

Her Personal Medical Journal: Things Your Doctor Needs to Know

How many times have you been asked a simple question by your physician and you could not answer it? When was your last menstrual? Is there a history of breast cancer in your family? Are you allergic to any medication? What medications are you currently taken? When was your last tetanus shot? Her Personal Medical Journal is here to help. Her Personal Medical Journal is created for women like me who visit the doctors office, but cant remember simple questions asked by the physician. It tracks all your insurance information, treatments, family medical history, physicians information, physician visits, medications, discontinued medications, appointments, and more. A physician only knows what they are told from a patient, especially when rushed to the emergency room or seeing a health care provider for the first time. The health care provider may ask all types of questions about a patient health, history, medications, the pain, previous procedures, results, etc. If the patient is accurate in answering the questions, the health care provider can be more accurate when providing relief. Having Her Personal Medical Journal on hand can save time and ease stress. It is helpful, not just for your physician, but also for you. Her Personal Medical Journal holds the answers to the questions your physicians want to know.
