

The Journal of Philology, Vol. 16 (Classic Reprint)

Propertius within the next ten years; but in the mean time I trust that the following list of corrections may be found of service to scholars. For my own sake too I have some desire to put my conjectures on record, as I am for ever seeing them forestalled by other students :M r Konrad Rossberg in vol. 127 of Fleckeisen annual has bereft me of no less than nine. True, it is agreeable enough to have ones results confirmed by a scholar who stands next to MrB aehrens and Mr Palmer at the head of living Propertian critics; but I should like to retain something of my own. As many readers are apt to fancy that the textual critic proposes alterations out of pure gaiety of heart and not because the vulgate wants altering, I have added an examination in detail of the first elegy; nemea dona tibi studio disposta fideli, I ntellecta prius quam sint, contempta relinquo .I employ Mr Baehrens mss and notation. I i. Between 11 and 12 are lost two such verses as these: multaue desertis fleuerat arboribus, et modo submissa casses ceruice ferebat .J urnal of Philology, vol. xvi.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
